A dead wolf

Corpse found near the forest of Fontainebleau

A predator rarely seen in France...

Like every Wednesday morning, David cuts wood and then brings this wood back to the sawmill.

Around 9 o'clock in the morning he discovers the corpse of a dangerous predator which is a wolf.

After the discovery of the corpse the woodcutter had called the police.

"On the stroke of emotion I was very scared." did he declare.

was found in a forest

A strange discovery ...

Indeed, as shown in the photo, the wolf had no apparent injury.

The police therefore decide to open an investigation in order to find out why this wolf was discovered in this forest. A wolf has never been seen in this forest. Therefore, we need to know where this wolf came from.

The scientific police were called to the scene of the discovery of the wolf in order to investigate. The police officers of this brigade took the decision to take DNA from the wolf in order to know the pedigree of this animal.

Later, scientists discover that it is a gray wolf. This is one of the most dangerous wolf breeds out there.

Hypotheses are already favored.

"The return of the wolf is also a marker of biodiversity.

- It is a witness of the return to a nature richer in fauna and flora.
- The massive rural exodus which allowed this species of wolf to settle without fearing man. ", says a scientist.

The presence of this animal could also be linked to hunting, which is much more present there in other countries than here.

The animal would therefore have migrated.
